Once upon a time -- before the hair coloring and the wedding dresses and the Hall of Fame -- Dennis Rodman was a local kid ... not yet the "salesman of himself" that would make him worthy of the Specialty Merchandise Corporation review. ... All of that was a ways away from being cooked up as he hung out on his little college campus in Oklahoma ... A recollection of diving-board stunts and milk-crate beds from my friend, and Rodman's friend, David Teel, is here ...
