BEIJING: Some say that Roman Catholicism, Heavy Metal and China don't mix well together. Some might even think that these groups could never create a "harmonious society."

Yet, the Beijing-based heavy metal band, "The Metaphor," strongly disagree with this notion.

Jonathan Alpart, a native Texan and China Radio International Web video reporter, produced an intriguing TV documentary-style Web video of the heavy metal band, The Metaphor.

Video footage shows band members openly discussing their faith and how they take pride in being baptized Catholic, while they live in China.
