President Barack Obama, commander-in-chief of the U.S. armed forces, has ordered his troops to wear their military uniforms with pride when participating in pro-homosexual publicity events. According to Fox News, "the Defense Department on Thursday announced it is allowing service members to march in uniform in a gay pride parade for the first time in U.S. history." The Pentagon issued a memorandum to all departments announcing that it was permitting troops to march in uniform at San Diego's Gay Pride Parade. As reported by Fox News, "the Defense Department said it did so because organizers had encouraged military personnel to march in their uniform and the event was getting national attention." Pentagon has marked June as gay pride month to salute gay and lesbian service members. To read the entire article from Fox News, link here: Tmcgregordallas@yahoo.com
