

Cops Bust Country-Crooner Randy Travis at Church Again

Contributed by Tom McGregor
Sun, Aug 26, 2012, 06:12 PM

Country star Randy Travis may not be singing &lsquo;Forever and Ever Amen&rsquo; at a church parking lot in Plano in the near future. For the second time in less than a year, local police officers arrested him near a church. In the first incident, he was taken into custody for appearing drunk at the church parking lot and in the most recent altercation; he allegedly got into a brawl with a fellow churchgoer. The Houston Chronicle reports that, &ldquo;police in suburban Dallas say they&rsquo;re citing country star Randy Travis for simple assault after he got involved in a couple&rsquo;s argument.&rdquo; David Tilley, Plano police officer, disclosed Friday that a woman and her estranged husband were arguing Thursday evening in a church parking lot. Apparently, Travis knew the woman and got involved with the dispute. According to the Houston Chronicle, &ldquo;Tilley says nobody was hurt but Travis and another woman were ticketed for simple assault, a Class CC misdemeanor similar to a parking citation.&rdquo; Tilley added, &ldquo;the officer who was out there as a good officer. His reports are always very thorough. Had there been any concern about alcohol, that would have been noted, or some action would have been taken.&rdquo; To read the entire article from the Houston Chronicle, link here:Tmcgregordallas@yahoo.com