

K.P. Wilska

Contributed by Roman Kikta
Fri, Jun 8, 2007, 11:15 AM

Kari-Pekka (K.P.) Wilska, the retired president of Nokia Americas was instrumental in making Nokia the leading wireless phone supplier and brand in the U.S. He talks about the early days of cellular, the challenges faced by the industry, Nokia's presence in the North Texas, emerging wireless technologies and trends and wireless's impact on our society and economy.

(Click to watch interview)

```
var x = new DBPlayer('kp_20070501',2);
```